The valiant Scot. [Drama.]

London. Printed by Thomas Harper for John Waterson.
1637. [79 pp.] Sm. 4°.

The dedicatory preface to the Marquis of Hamilton, signed William Bowyer, contains this passage: "What I haue I bestow upon you, and doe hope, though it be clothed in the light dressing of a Play, it will not be denyed your Lordships acceptance." This would seem to claim the authorship for Bowyer, who states that he had served under Hamilton in the wars, and who may possibly be the William Bowyer, miles, of Biddulph, Staffordshire, whose son matriculated at Exeter College, Oxford, in 1633. Fleay, in his Chronicle of the English Drama, suggests that the publisher, John Waterson, may be the author. The subject of the play is Sir William Wallace.

from the Proceedings of the same Society, with the title, "Governor Bradford's manuscript history of Plymouth Plantation and its transmission to our times," [2350a.74]. Mr. Doyle, the editor of this reprint, fails to mention that the original manuscript contains a book-plate stating that "This Book belongs to the New-England-Library Begun to be collected by Thomas Prince . . . July 6, 1703 . . ." which library was deposited by him in "The Steeple Chamber of the old South Church," and after many vicissitudes, in the year 1866 was transferred, in trust, to the Boston Public Library. from the Prince library found its way to England can be only a matter of surmise. It has been suggested that it may have been among the possessions of Governor Hutchinson when they were scattered by the mob in 1765, or may have been preserved by him and taken to England, or, more likely, may have been appropriated at the time the Old South Church was occupied by British troops during the siege of Boston, 1775-76, and carried to England after the evacuation. It was not until 1855 that this document so long hidden was brought to light by the efforts of American scholars, and its importance revealed.

For the purpose of the present investigation, the following facts are of importance. The first is that the number of cases of the disease in 1872 was not less than in any other year. The second is that the disease was not confined to any particular locality, but was found in all parts of the country. The third is that the disease was not confined to any particular class of the population, but was found in all ranks of society. The fourth is that the disease was not confined to any particular season of the year, but was found in all seasons.

The following table shows the number of cases of the disease in each of the years from 1870 to 1872. It will be seen that the number of cases in 1872 was not less than in any other year. The following table shows the number of cases of the disease in each of the years from 1870 to 1872. It will be seen that the number of cases in 1872 was not less than in any other year.

A black and white photograph of a document page. The page is heavily stained with numerous small, dark, irregular spots and smudges, particularly concentrated in the upper left and center areas. A large, solid black circle is positioned in the bottom left corner of the frame. The overall appearance is that of an old, damaged, or possibly a negative of a document.
